MATT PRATER

Eleven years, more than 1,000 live shows and three recording projects ago, Matt Prater wrote his first song.

Prater, a singer-songwriter, is the perfect blend of country, folk, and bluegrass that remains relevant to all generations. Son of a cattle farmer in north Alabama, who had a passion for music, simple living, and hard work -honest God fearing folk. It's no surprise that Matt draws upon his family and his upbringings as a source of inspiration for many of his songs. Matt has been surrounded by music and musicians his entire life, but only started writing and performing live in 2006.

In 2010, he recorded his first album, "Small Town Son" followed by "The Mountain" in 2013. The albums are filled with stories of family, poetry, humble beginnings, and Southern American tradition. His music is real and authentic, its "Roots Run Deep." Matt is currently working on his next album scheduled to be released Spring 2017.
